A couple of additional caravans of telephone poles came in Monday over the L. and N. The work of putting up the line will begin just as soon as there are sufficient old poles to go around. The day is the construction of the system. Meanwhile, subscriptions for telephones may be left at THE LEXON office.

Master John Calhoun made a very narrow escape yesterday afternoon from a serious accident. He received a new life-cycle and started out for a run, and when near the Fifth Ward watered trough a horse that was drinking frightened and reared upon its hind legs. John endeavored to get out of the horse's way, but got right square in it. The horse planted both its front feet into the horse, smashing the front wheel and barely missing the little fellow's leg.

John Duley went home to supper last evening. This is an every-day occurrence, however. He found his home in the quiet possession of his family and a number of relatives and near friends. This was somewhat out of the ordinary. When he began an investigation he found out that it was his birthday, and that his wife had planned a "surprise" which surprised him. The Duleys hope that he and his may live to celebrate many returns of the event.

SLIGHTLY "SHOT."
A "Number" That Was Not Down on the Minstrel Program.

"Bode's Operatic Minstrels," composed of a number of Mayfield's young men, made an excursion to Manchester Monday evening, to enliven that sleepy town with an up-and-up entertainment.

They went by the water route, but some of the excursion party had no use for water further than as a help to navigation.

Bear and whisky they were ready for the return trip several members were "led out by the guards."

It is learned from numerous sources that Charles McCarthey and William H. Case had a misunderstanding of some sort, which Mr. McCarthey sought to settle with a gun.

He turned loose on Mr. Case, and a slight wound on the left breast is his certificate of the trip.

His injury is trivial.

What happened at the Manchester what the excursionists were ready to set sail for home.

WE'RE FOR AMERICA/AMERICANS!

BRADLEY!

Kentucky's Own Son
for President.

BRADLEY'S CURRENCY PLATFORM.

"I am opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver, believing it would destroy all National prosperity. The gold dollar is the best dollar, and I am in favor of making every other dollar equivalent to it in value. I am the friend of silver, and believe it can be best protected by holding its issue in such bonds as will insure its parity with gold as a circulating medium." — W. O. BRADLEY.

WHAT the country needs is more work at home and less money sent abroad to pay for foreign made goods.

WHEN a Democratic daily paper has 136 inches of advertisements from "males" who are seeking employment, and only 23 inches of advertisements from employers who want help, as was the case in New York on April 11th, it is very easy to understand the effect of Democratic Tariff legislation upon the American labor market. There are practically six men after every job in the Empire City upon that basis, but there are hundreds of others out of work who have not even the money necessary to pay for an advertisement. A ratio of 16 to 1 would be a moderate estimate.

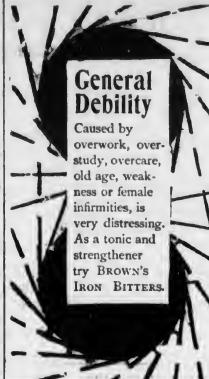

POTATOES have been used for fuel in New York state. What wonderful luck the Empire State has had since 1893, when its favorite son became President. Now the farmers don't have to bother handling their potatoes to market or to railroads. The extent of the markets is controlled by the closed factories and low wages, and this saves the farmer much labor, besides having to advance freight money. Think, too, of the advantage of growing one's own fuel on one's own farm. What a blow at the coal monopolists and the labor they employ! Corn to burn, potatoes to burn, wheat for food. Who wouldn't be a farmer during Democratic Free-trade times?

A RECENT editorial in the Paris Kentuckian-Citizen so clearly presents the follies of the free silver craze, and so competely voices a sound sense on that subject, that THE article to its columns. Any person who will not heed the lessons of the past, and avoid the rocks upon which former hopes have been dashed to pieces, is surely not a safe pilot for the Ship of State. The article is as follows:

The silverites persists in believing or pretending to believe that the claim of the gold standard people that gold would go out of circulation under a free coinage law at 16 to 1, is more absurd and is entirely unreasonable.

Pardon for Gov. Bradley After Having Served Seven of His Seven Years—Frankfort, Ky., April 28.—Gov. Bradley, Monday, pardoned Judge P. William, of Breckinridge county, who was sent up for 17 years for killing the despoiler of his home, one Miller. He had served seven years of his sentence, and his wife, a widow, had a letter to Gov. Bradley, after daying it at the time of the trial. The petition for Judge Pulliam's pardon was signed by over eight thousand people. He was released Monday afternoon, and left for his home.

The governor refused to grant a reprieve to "Mud-Dunker" Smith, who is to be hung at Lexington Wednesday, for rape. He also refused to grant 145 pardons that petitions were on file asking to be granted.

MORE VICTIMS.

Robert Laughlin Confesses to Committing Suicide—Lexington.

Louisville, Ky., April 28.—A special from Brooksville, Ky., says it was reported here Monday that Robert Laughlin, who is in the Maysville jail for the killing of his wife, his son, his son's child and his wife, the latter of whom he assaulted and then set on fire, has made another confession that makes him the champion field of the age.

It is said that he has confessed that the idiot child which was found in a spring near the house was one of his victims, and that he confessed to the murder of his brother-in-law, Benjamin McCracken, thus making five victims of his malice and to his murderous lust for blood.

Gold Work of Firemen—Hopkinsville, Ky., April 28.—A bold attempt was made Monday morning to burn the police headquarters and other buildings along the square of the commercial zone. Lighted matches were found in a lot of inflammable stuff near the buildings, which were damaged only a few hundred dollars before the fire was discovered and extinguished.

It was undoubtedly the work of firemen.

In 1834 Congress desired to restore gold to circulation and knowing that by the law of trade a metal which is overvalued in the coinage will become the basis of the currency and the metal which is undervalued will be expelled, it passed a law changing the ratio from 15 to 1 to 16 to 1—the commercial ratio being still 15 to 1. Silver being undervalued and gold overvalued at this ratio the gold came back and the silver went out just as surely and as completely as if the statute had declared that there should be no more silver used as money by our people. Every great commercial Nation in the world has tried over and over again to find some ratio at which the two metals could be coined on equal terms and kept in concurrent circulation, but every such experiment has failed, and these experiments have demonstrated beyond all question that whenever there is a difference even so small as one per cent. between the commercial ratio of the metals and the coinage ratio the cheaper metal in the coinage expels the dearer and we have the monetization of the cheaper metal. This is not assertion. It is a fact proved by the experience of our own coinage laws and by that of all the great commercial Nations of the world.

At present ounces of gold in the market are worth about 32 ounces of silver. The advocates of silver are demanding free and unlimited coinage of that metal at the ratio of 16 to 1. The commercial ratio is 32 to 1. They therefore demand that it shall be coined at a ratio which differs 100 per cent. from its commercial ratio, and they say that the claim it would expel gold at that ratio is mere assertion, and this too in face of the fact that a difference of one per cent. between the commercial and the coinage ratio has always and everywhere under the free coinage been sufficient to necessitate that some of its currency will be melted away to satisfy the demand for it.

When the S. L. Wood and Raymond Horner left Louisville with thirty-four coalboats each it was predicted that they would never get to Cairo and would have trouble at Scovilleton. Being among the largest boats ever built on the Ohio by any means, the river was swift and falling, the common opinion was that they would have trouble. The boats made successful trips, reached Cairo all right and performed remarkable feats.

AN ODD GIFT.

Presidents Open a Grave Yard They Have Never Seen.

New York World.

A gift of graves and the thic to two plots of land three miles West of Lancaster, O., near the old Mayville and Zanesville stage coach line, is vested in the President of the United States, whoever he may happen to be.

Among the Scotch Covenanters captured by the Duke of Monmouth at the battle of Bothwell Bridge, June 22, 1679, was the leader, Richard Cameron, and one of his most faithful adherents, Nathaniel Wilson, aged nineteen. When King Charles learned of Cameron's capture he ordered his hands to be cut off with Cameron's own sword and nailed up in a public place as a warning to all.

Wilson escaped and Cameron presented him with a sword. Wilson came to America in 1683, and settled in Pennsylvania. His son and namesake some years later removed to Ohio, taking with him the Cameron sword. He settled in what is now Fairfield county.

His father had a deep respect for burial grounds, and deplored their desecration. He died in 1815, and in 1817 his son decided to set aside a certain tract of land as a burial ground for his family. To insure the property against desecration and invasion he conveyed, on October 24, 1817, by deed, to James Monroe, President of the United States, and his successors in office forever, this particular tract. It is described in detail in the deed, giving the meter and bounds. The instrument then states the measurements "shall pursue courses and distances so as to form a regular diamond, all of which is to be appropriated and used by the said Nathaniel Wilson and his heirs for and as a place of family burial, and for no other use whatsoever."

This land was conveyed to President Monroe and his successors in fee simple forever, in trust for Nathaniel Wilson, and the President formally, in writing, accepted the trust, which, likewise, has formally been accepted by all of his successors.

Wilson's will, dated April 12, 1838, bequeathed to Maria Van Buren, then President and his successors in office forever, a grove of locust trees, the timber of which he intended for a building a fence. There are now nine graves in the queer burial ground. No President has ever seen the cemetery.

100—Reward—BLOODY

The following is a list of the most dreadful cases of homicide that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Cabarrus Hall's Cataract Cure is the only cure known to the medical field.

The Tortes about the country acted as pilots for the British soldiers, who frequently came in boats through the inlet at Chincoteague and up the Sycamore Bay, the prosperous farms along the shore offering an excellent field for their raids.

For the most part these farms were unprotected, and the local Tortes would guide the soldiers to those houses where they probably got the most booty.

It is told of Mr. Purnell that early one morning while looking over his farm and standing on a hill which commanded a view of the Bay, he saw several boatsload of raiders making their way toward his own shore. He went to his house and summoned a dozen Negro men about him and armed them with long cutlasses. Mounting an old gray horse, he marched his battalion down behind the hill, keeping out of sight of the approaching British. As soon as he reached the foot of the hill on the inland side, he called a halt and gave orders to his men. He stationed himself at the brow of the hill so that the head of his noble charger could be seen by the men on the Bay. Then came the order for his battalion to march in review. An unbroken line around and around the hill they marched, with their cutlasses gleaming in the sun.

His twelve men made a fine showing, and the effect on the raiders was magical. The distance magnified the number. They saw the army and precipitately retreated. The fame of the valorous old gentleman has been handed down to the present generation.

The old man who looks out at the world with clear and healthy eyes cannot help feeling a certain satisfaction at the thought that his children have not been born with the tendency to disease. The healthy old man is the man who has throughout his life kept his digestion good and his blood pure. Not one in ten thousand can claim such a record.

Let him not forget that the best way to keep fit is to eat well and to drink well. Let him not forget that the best way to keep fit is to eat well and to drink well.
